What Will The Partnership Consist Of:

We'll be partnering with Bases Covered to ensure that our online staffing portal is now more secure than ever, while also enabling them to test out a new suite of data privacy and cyber protection software for Rhodes Staffing internal IT operations.

What Are The Origins Of The Partnership:

Rhodes Staffing has provided staffing services to Bases Covered for many years. Our two companies have developed a great relationship. After Bases Covered began developing its new suite of cyber security software, it saw our staffing portal as an excellent fit for the new solution.

How Is The Partnership Expected To Benefit Each Company:

For us, it will enhance the security of our organization and our customers. There's a ton of data that enables us to match the right candidate with the right professional role. All of this information needs to be secure. Bases Covered will help us do that. At the same time, our unique system and our staffing portal will provide valuable insight into complex IT security needs.

What Will This Partnership Provide To Customers Of Both Companies:

Our client's personal and professional information will be better protected across the board. This extends to the many companies that use our staffing portal to find candidates, manage their accounts, and carry out thousands of essential HR actions each day. The other companies that use Bases Covered can look at Rhodes Staffing as a proven example of how cyber security can be applied to a complex IT portal.

What Are The Long-Term Goals Of The Partnership:

The goal to reach an optimal level of data security will be ongoing. We want to offer one of the most secure solutions for job seekers and providers as they rely on our services. In the process, we hope to play a part in building more robust security tools.

To ensure that this resource exceeds modern security standards, Rhodes Staffing has recently partnered with cyber security consultation and service provider, Bases Covered Security. The two companies will be working together to maintain and improve the security of Rhodes Staffing's services and internal IT operations while also testing a new suite of data privacy and cyber protection software.

Building on a well-established relationship, the two companies decided to enter this venture after the development of Bases Covered's latest cyber security suite. Rhodes Staffing's online portal was identified as an excellent opportunity to deploy this solution. Both companies are now confident this will amount to multiple benefits for their respective clients.

Protecting the personal and professional information of all staffing portal users has always been a major priority for Rhode Staffing. The agency's new partnership with Bases Covered is an extension of maintaining and building on its commitment to its clients as they input data and complete thousands of digital actions each day. For Bases Covered, the new partnership with Rhodes Staffing is a chance to apply its robust security tools to a complex IT portal and identify the potential for new security solutions.

With the launch of this partnership, both Rhodes Staffing and Bases Covered hope to achieve and deliver an optimal level of data security. As expressed by Rhodes Staffing's Jeffrey Dunn, the agency's staffing portal administrator and onsite IT manager, "We're confident that working with Bases Covered Security will be a major asset to Rhode Staffing and all of the companies and professionals we serve."

Bases Covered Security has underscored its new partner's sentiments, as the company's service development and deployment manager Tara Kline states, "As one of their clients, we rely on Rhodes Staffing and use many of their resources. We see the value in the service they deliver and saw an opportunity to develop a more secure and powerful solution for them and our other clients. We see great potential to build on both of our capabilities."
